In Their Own Words Essays by Students of Project Education, Inc. and the Clay Foundation School

Essay By Kyalo Muayok

Coming to school is not a hide and seek game but calls for self determination and sacrifice. Being in secondary school, especially Clay, is a privilege as no other school around having a qualified and sacrificial staff as here. They are determined and ready to strive.

All what I like most is only the standard in the school. The type of education given out is the standardized one. I like being in the system as after our Form Four, resources to facilitate university progression are there and there is good learning atmosphere. The staff makes me feel that I belong as the encourage us that we can do better and give methodologies leading us to good results at the end.

Generally, I like the school as whole. We work as community learning in mind that united we stand, divided we fallí. This encourages me and I feel that the institution will go on with the same motto. I also like being one of the students here as we uplift each other to make our grades at the end be pleasant and admirable to the society and also the school.

This school it has really changed me life since I joined in two thousand and five. Sincerely I appreciate first so much the sponsor and also all the other stakeholder of this institution for what they have done for me. The qualified staff members and also the subordinate staff who are in this institution. "We love you, need you, and thank you. May Almighty God do wonderful in our lives."

I as a student am proud of myself since I have achieved something good up to now due to 'good learning environment'. I like the school structures the way they are and also learning resources which are within, especially laboratory and all variety of books. I admire all my leaders, teachers and also sponsors since they act as a good role models to me. I thank you since I have a bright future now. I hope and believe that I will join one or the best universities come some years. May God bless you all!

Essay by Winfred Mueni: The School's Contribution to Enlighten My Future

First of all, the school is a small community which is preparing boys and girls to be important men and ladies in future. For this reason, I feel motivated in life once I am in Clay International School. More over, school curbs quite a number of catastrophes a young fox might meet in life.

For instanced, to a case of an orphan, the school protects one from mental torture which one might get while he/she is not schooling. This might occur if you are just at home having no where to go and having no hope in life. Being in Clay International Secondary School, I have been relieved of this problem.

In addition, the school is offering a basic education with qualified teachers who are ready to put my life into their tracks. As a person who has no company, our teachers have been giving us enough company, being kind, helpful, loving, and showing a high degree of concern unto us. By this, I feel liked, loved, and having the right parents with me.

Not only having the school rules and regulations, our teachers also give us moral support by guiding and counseling us where necessary. This encourages me because upstairs and discipline wise all is well right here in school and also in society.

On the other hand, with all the support from our sponsor, teachers, parents, guardians and all the stakeholders in general, the school is opening all the right opportunities to see and enter through the gates of university so be it to me through my hard work and the Mighty God.

Finally, I give vote of thanks to our sponsor, teachers and all the stakeholders of this school and may the Almighty shower grace and blessings unto everyone in this school.

Thank you.

Essay by Johnstone Masaku

I really appreciate what the institution is offering to me. It's giving me a quality education by providing all the resources needed for learning. The teachers are doing me good for the sacrifices they do to me and the other students in general.

I also appreciate the free interaction which is being provided by the institution by ensuring we go to participate in sports and games with other schools. The education am gaining is really making my life better than any other day in past. The teachers provided council me when necessary and advise me accordingly.

I am looking forward to being a responsible Kenyan. The education is also providing a wide view of what makes the country be poor thus the teachers provided give advice to us on the effects of corruption and how we can better our future. I now have a vision and I hope my future would be a bright one. Thanks for what has been provided and what will be provided.

With thanks!
